What is "Green Power?"

Green Power is the name given to electricity generated by using a renewable resource, such as solar, wind...and even decomposing garbage in landfills.

Blachly-Lane is one of a dozen electric cooperatives who joined forces and built just such a generation facility near Corvallis, Oregon, called COFFIN BUTTE RESOURCE PROJECT. Since the biomass in the landfill creates methane gas as it decomposes, that gas is used to fuel large Caterpillar engines that drive generators producing electricity...24 hours a day, 7 days a week.

The electricity, which serves approximately 4,000 homes, is equal to that created with 24,000 tons of coal each year. Obviously, methane gas is much more friendly to the environment than coal is, and burning the gas keeps it from adding noxious emissions into the atmosphere.

The Coffin Butte generating plant may continue to expand in generation of electricity. Here is your opportunity to help support this expansion

Your Co-op helps fund current operations, but the cost of generating this type of clean power is slightly higher than the present market. We offer members of the Co-op an opportunity to subscribe to a fixed number of kilowatt-hours, in blocks of 100, at a monthly cost of $2.00 per 100 kWh. In addition to your normal monthly electricity bill, you will see a separate line item charge for "Green Power" on your statement.

How much is strictly up to you as it depends on how many blocks of 100 kWh you wish to support. If you are not currently a green power supporter, here is an opportunity to sign up and help support renewable resources with the co-op's investment in the Coffin Butte expansion.

How to give support for "Green Power":

Just clip and return this coupon.

"I understand that I may support Green Power to whatever extent I wish, in blocks of 100 kilowatt-hours, at $2.00 per 100 kWh. I also understand that this does not affect the normal kWh rate, but is a separate charge accepted voluntarily by me to support an environmentally-friendly, renewable source of energy. I agree to pay the additional $2.00 per 100 kWh monthly, for a minimum of one year."
